DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kimura (Kimura et al.; US Patent No. 6539,243 B1) in view of Jarrad (Jarrad, Salah Khalil; US Patent No. 6,047,197 A).

Regarding claim 1, Kimura teaches of a portable telephone (figure 1, column 1, lines 5-7) for executing a plurality of functions (column 1, lines 40-53) selected from hierarchically structured menus (column 5, lines 63-67; column 7, lines 14-23 and column 1, lines 24-29 and 46-48; where the "predetermined order" and "main items" and "sub-items" represent "hierarchies"), the telephone comprising: a plurality of execution keys (column 1, lines 40-43; e.g., "buttons" corresponding to "keys") for instructing execution of respective functions (column 1, lines 40-43) from the plurality of functions; function assigning means for assigning selected ones of the plurality of functions desired to respective ones of the plurality of execution keys (column 1, lines 43-46); display means for displaying information (figure 1, item 4 and lines 4-12 of the abstract); and function executing means for executing the function assigned to the execution key in response to one of a pressing of the execution key (column 1, lines 40-43).

Kimura does not teach of a five-direction jog dial for movement in any of five directions, so as to perform input operations relative to the information displayed on the display means.

In related art concerning an icon driven phone menu system, Jarrad teaches of a five-direction jog dial for movement in any of five directions, so as to perform input operations relative to the information displayed on the display means (figure 1, item 14, column 2, lines 63-67 and column 3, lines 1-16; where the "five switches" have the same function described in the invention) (In addition, US publication no.: 2003/0117380 A1 attached as reference, paragraph 0017 refers item 3, in figure 1, as "jog dial" which compares to item 14 found in the Jarrad's art used in this rejection).

It would have been obvious to a one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine Kimura's portable telephone for executing a plurality of functions with Jarrad's "five-direction jog dial" in order to facilitate the usage of the functions found in a portable telephone.

Regarding claim 2, Kimura teaches all the limitations according to claim 1. In addition, Kimura teaches where the plurality of execution keys is provided near the display means (lines 7-9 of the abstract); and the display means displays symbols representing the respective functions assigned to the execution keys by thee function assigning means near the plurality of execution keys (e.g., "icons" corresponding to "symbols"; columns 3 and 4, lines 56-67 and 1-16, respectively).

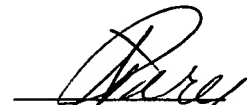

Regarding claim 3, Kimura teaches all the limitations according to claim 1. Kimura also teaches where the function assigning means assigns the function desired to the execution key regardless of a hierarchy of a menu containing the function (column 8, lines 17-23; e.g., where the function is "consecutively performed" regardless of hierarchy of a menu).
